The New Summer Walk.

There is as much a set style in gait as there is in gowns. The summer girl has a newfashioned walk, of course. It is not a swagger nor a gride, but a spet of half-and-half picture of graceful don't care that is altogether charming.

The principal feature of it, however, is the way she carries her hands. One, the left I wish I hangs loosely at her size or carries a pretty I am nine wrap or a light Summer shawl.

A sort of abstracted gaze is likewise the correct accompaniment of the Summer walk, and with the body thrown slithily forward. the pretty, careless but so calefully studied position of the hands, the trailing skirts and the general air of world ownership one finds a wonderful amount of leauty in the walk which is practised by every girl who desires to be recognized as knowing the correct thing to do.

Queen Natal o's Book.

Queen Natalie of bertia has at last published ber much-take left and long-expected "Tatijana, the Foem of the Crowned Child." The work is in the style of an Oriental epic poem and relates to the history of a boy prince torn from his mother's arms by Satanic creatures "hyenas" "demons," the three terms by which Natalle lovingly designates the Servian Regents.

According to the royal lady's roem, how. ever, the boy's love triumphs over a l, and at last, when he is given the choice, he decides in favor of his mether and against the crown which is offered him. This touches the populace, and the boy i allowed to keep his crown and his mother.

Matrimonial Mathematics.

A German statistician has discovered that marriages in Europe are most frequent where the husband is two or three years older than the wife. Women under twenty, however, usually take unto themselves husbands six or seven years older than themselves. The cases where the husband was six or seven years younger than the wife were just as numerous as those where he was thirteen or fourteen years older. Twelve and threetentus per cent. of all men who marry women under twenty years of age, according to the statistician, are between twenty-six and twenty-seven years old. Recent census bulletins show that the preponderance in number of the temales over the males in the New England States is giving way. The increase of males in the nine States of New England is shown to be in the jast decade 2.821,209, or 65 per cent , while of remales it was but 1.517.176, or a little over 21 per cent. Make Your Own Bathing Costume

This bathing costume is intended for butcher-bive linen and either white or black braid, with the plastron of white or apricot cambrie or twill and blue braid.

Turkey red twill of good substance is also used, and is more suitable with a full skirt, as here shown, than in the close-fitting shapes which reveal every line of the figure. The shaped knickerbockers are quite separate and open on either side. The full skirt is attached to the bodice, which latter lastens on the right side onto the plastron.

Baby's daily tub seems a necessity in he weather, as it is so much more cooling than al, of soonge bath, but it is frequently given up c all account of the trouble experienced in secur into ing it. The recent invention by a trained nurse of a portable bathtub that folds flat obvious this difficulty. It is made of pure rubber on strong drilling-cloth, and has pocke s for totlet articles, a towel-rack, &c. The water is drawn off by a faucet at the bottom. Where space is to be considered, as in travelling, this tub is a great convenience and fills a long-feit want.

A Tennis or Party Gown.

A dainty little tenn's gown is this and quite suitable, too, for a garden party. It is made of fine ilama cloth or delaine, with a todice of figured delaine, the plain vest being outlined with a narrow Irill, and the puffed sicere e circled with tands of ribbon velvet. A trill of the flaured material is placed round the skirt, and a soft fringed sash of surah is tied in a tow at the side and falls in long, graceful ends to the hem of the skirt. giving just the finishing touch to this charm-
